

Controlled Canister Purge System

The controlled canister purge system functions in a manner that is familiar from similar systems. The solenoid valve is operated directly by the engine management system.

The fuel evaporation tank and the associated solenoid valve are located on the right side of the engine compartment.

- 1 Fuel evaporation tank
- 2 Valve, solenoid, tank ventilation

